Overcoming these barriers to carve out a meaningful career path requires self-awareness, resilience, perseverance and often the input from external support networks.

Key Role of Talent Development

The thoughtful attraction, development, engagement, and retention of talent is critical to building business value. This is achieved by effectively executing strategy in alignment with your organisational culture.

Having the right people, in the right place at the right time drives innovation, ensures succession and business continuity - and can be your greatest competitive advantage.

Cost of turnover

The cost of young talent leaving is estimated at between 50% - 200% of their annual salary, depending on job level and industry.

Morale

Existing employees may become frustrated and demotivated if they must constantly assist or cover for inexperienced colleagues, resulting in declining engagement.

Long-term competitiveness

In today's business environment, agile, engaged and skilled employees are key to adapt to new challenges and seize growth opportunities.

Decreased productivity

Employees who lack necessary skills or experience require more time and resources to perform their job effectively, impacting efficiency

Innovation

Young talent are key to bringing fresh perspectives and new ideas. If they lack the skills or knowledge to contribute or communicate effectively, they can hinder instead of aid

The opportunity

In the fiercely competitive war for talent, failing to invest in your talent hinders their ability to adapt and thrive. It also places the organisation at risk of losing out on the next generation of skilled professionals to more forward-thinking competitors.

Investing in them and prioritising their needs and aspirations, enhances engagement and retention creating an environment in which they can flourish and contribute meaningfully to your organisation's success.

Introducing workFIT

workFIT, our 10-day work readiness Short Learning Programme (SLP), is a development journey.

It places equal onus on the individual and the organisation: to achieve, I need to FIT into the organisation, and to FIT, I need to BE FIT.

STADIO

At STADIO, we believe in the future of our nation. We want to make a difference by offering greater access to higher education, ensuring that every South African has the opportunity to become the most empowered version of themselves. By investing in the human potential all around us, we can grow minds, dreams and employment to ultimately benefit our nation as a whole.

We take a profound interest in what our students want, and what our country and the world of work needs. We offer higher education specially designed to meet industry requirements and to accommodate our students' diverse lifestyles. At the end of the day, we have an opportunity to not just help individuals realise their dreams, but to help a nation grow stronger.

The time to do something great for South Africa is now. That's why we've united our collective experience with one goal. To empower the nation by widening access to higher education.

We have brought together four highly prestigious institutions – Southern Business School, Embury Institute for Higher Education, LISOF and Prestige Academy – with a collective experience of over 100 years in providing quality, affordable higher education. We are proud to offer an array of accredited qualifications via contact, distance and blended learning, across nine campuses, to over 46 000 students
